With SharePoint flexibility that allows you to scale a portal's structure to add or delete separate modules without data loss and enhance your business identity to everyone.

URANIUM experts have a progressive experience of developing and customizing the corporate portals based on Microsoft SharePoint and saves your time by providing the integration with an existing system that helps your business to share the required information with others like customer and vendor.

With an intranet portal, employees will have a network to share the latest feeds within the organization, putting all collaboration channels and activities together under the same digital roof. URANIUM helps you enhancing employees' communication and sharing company's policies and procedures. We analyze your organization's requirements and need to evaluate the best Portal Type that suits your business.

Whether your business requires a lot of document sharing, or only relies on a social function to increase communication among employees, it doesn't matter. Microsoft SharePoint Intranet can become a comprehensive enterprise system that covers multiple functional areas, allowing for creating a unique solution that just fit your organizational needs.
